Baldwin Boxall Brexit Statement

The outcome of the 2016 referendum means that the UK will leave the European Union (or 'Brexit' as it has become known) in March 2019. As a UK manufacturer of Voice Evacuation and Emergency Voice Communication systems that sells into the UK, EU and Rest of the World, it is important that, like many others, we keep a close eye on the Article 50 outcome. As a company we will embrace the challenges and uncertainties that the final decision will bring.

We will continue to strive to provide the industry leading customer service that our customers have become accustomed to and will continue to do so regardless of a deal/no deal outcome. As a team we are taking measures to alleviate risks to and from our supply chains.

These measures include:

- Review of our supply chain to minimise any potential cost variations on materials/components post Brexit.
- Monitor changes to import procedures in relation to customs clearance when importing products to and from European countries post Brexit.
- Stocking procedures – ensuring we work with our suppliers to establish strong stock levels post Brexit.

We remain positive about the outcome of the ongoing negotiations and have plans in place to respond once the final outcome is known. We have an excellent understanding of international trade and have confidence in our staff to adjust, as required, following Brexit to ensure minimum disruption to our customers.

We understand that many customers have concerns and until we know more about the outcome we will continue with business as normal. As the outcome of Brexit evolves we will implement the necessary changes to ensure our customers have the highest level of customer service they expect from Baldwin Boxall.

Yours faithfully,

Nick Baldwin
